

WHAT IS A LAND TRUST?

A land trust or land conservancy is a community-based, nonprofit organization dedicated to conserving land.

Wisconsin has more than 40 land trusts that protect land from the Mississippi River to Lake Michigan, from the Northwoods to the southern Driftless Area.

Each land trust is unique. These organizations may cover multiple counties or focus on the protection of a single lake. No matter their size or scope, all of Wisconsin's land trusts play a vital role in the protection of land and water across the state.

FIND A LAND TRUST

Get to know Wisconsin's land trusts. Find an interactive map of land trusts at:

gatheringwaters.org/find-a-land-trust

Gathering Waters celebrates the land trust community and works to create opportunities for people to experience and appreciate protected places during Wisconsin Land Trust Days.

Visit HaveFunOutside.org for more information!

